SHOOTING TRAGEDY MARIANNA CITIZEN SHOT TO DEATH

While out hunting near Nor- Still about 6 miles south of Marianna on Thanksgiving Day Judge J. C. McKinnon, Judge of Jackson county, was fatally shot through accidental discharge of a gun held by one of the party. One of the hunters, who had completely fagged and McKinnon suggested that another of the party carry log between them on a hunt coat. Thus they proceeded to the third member of the party standing in front with the three muzzles pointing back toward Judge McKinnon the other friend. After they gone some distance in some accountable way one of the s was accidentally discharged long Judge McKinnon and wing a terrible hole through lower left side. Drs. McKinnon (his brother) Baltzell and three worked heroically but at its hour Thursday night he ex- ed.

The party was composed of Judge J. C. McKinnon, Tax Assessor W. B. Wain and another friend whose name it is impos- sible to learn.

Judge McKinnon is survived by a wife and 4 year old child his father Col. D. L. McKinnon his mother three sisters and four brothers. Judge McKinnon has been prominent in the politics of west Florida for a number of years, having held the office of County Judge for twelve years. He is one of the best families of the State and his tragic death will be mourned by hundreds of friends.

DIED LAST NIGHT

Fripp Little, the 16-year-old son of Capt. C. F. Little of Gordo, died last night as a result of a wound he received accidentally a week ago in a hunt of which was published in the Eagle.

The young man was wounded just above the knee. Fripp and a cousin of his about 12 years of age had been out hunting and when they had finished their hunt and returned home the gun of the younger boy was accidentally discharged and Fripp's death is the result. The family has our sympathies.

A RUNAWAY

About ten o'clock this morning Geo. Pilcher's horse got scared at the train and dashed up the street hitting a wagon and partly wrecking the buggy, then the buggy struck one of Whitley's and standing hitched to a dray and finally found on the pile of brick on Foster street where he turned the buggy over and fell. He couldn't get up without help. The horse was turned up and outside of crippling an innocent hardworking man made no damage, much was done.

DOLETTA

Don't fail to see Doletta and her baby the Smallest Mother on earth. She weighs 17 pounds is 27 years old and is 98 inches tall. Her baby is 2 years and 9 months old and is almost as large as her mother now.

Don't fail to see her. Interesting historical and so useful for ladies, gentlemen and children.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Toy Thelma Frazier entertained at her home on North Foster street last Friday afternoon at a Miscellaneous Shower in honor of a fair November bride, Miss Shirley I. Parish. The parlor and hall were decorated with a profusion of palms, ferns and cut plants. The color motif of red and white was arranged with artistic taste. Suspended by ribbons of red and white in the center was an enormous red ball in which was interlaced narrow ribbons of red and white to which were attached the cards of the guests invited bearing each an appropriate toast and good wishes to the bride. These cards and toasts were retained by the bride to be as souvenirs. A large electric light was suspended from the center of the large hall forming the chandelier.

Miss Frazier received her guests in a toilet of white linen and was assisted by her sisters, Miss Anna Frazier and Mrs. Will H. Frazier. Miss Parish was gowning in a magnificent costume of grey silk with a large yoke of cream lace over white satin with hat to match. After the guests were all assembled the bride elect was led to a seat directly under the large ball and all the guests formed in a circle around her each taking hold of the little ribbon from which her card was suspended and repeating the toast thereon. Much merriment was caused by the repetition of these toasts. Little Miss Ray Strickland then sang very sweetly and appropriately. Just some time and as she repeated the chorus softly she saw a ribbon suspended from the center of the ball a tug and the side to be was literally covered with the down pour. Little Misses Ray Strickland and Elizabeth Whaley then served delightful fruit salad and cake. The most costly and handsome pieces of silver and silver glass of richest cut etc. only attest the esteem and love in which the charming and accomplished bride to be is held by the many guests assembled.

Among those present were: Mrs. Watt Norris, Miss Robbin Haver, Miss Hattie Mae Sellers, Mrs. Miss Tally, Miss Marie Harris, Mrs. Albert King, Mrs. Will H. Frazier, Mrs. Fletcher Black, Miss Jessie Scarbrough, Miss Winnie Saxon, Miss Alice Watford, Miss Foy Pitts, Miss Lois Granberry, Miss Inlay Lottan, Miss Susie Layfield, Miss Halbe Jordan, Miss Julia Hurt, Miss Thelma Frazier, Miss Annie Frazier.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brunson and two children went up on the six o'clock Coast Line yesterday to the Junction and spent the day fishing and had excellent luck and a good time.

Yesterday was a pretty day for Thanksgiving, or anything else.

Most all of the business houses that close for anything were shut up yesterday.

As we have said before, the way to fall in love with Dothan is to see the other towns.

Next week will be a mighty good time for the people who expect to buy things for the winter, to do their shopping. Special inducements are offered in all lines.

The Abbeville Times, has a red hot editorial on the evils of dancing this week. The editor goes into the subject deep, and condemns to round dance to the point till it cannot be indulged in at all.

TAFT'S LUCK.

Taft feels that it was all a matter of luck, this career of his leading over a period of some dozen years or more. He thought they were doing the wrong thing when they sent him to the Philippines, and when they took him up and made a supreme judge out of him, he felt that they taking liberties with him that were not warranted, and that nothing could come out of it. Now he's doubtful if it is the proper thing for him, this being made president, without any effort on his part. He attributes it to luck, as the world does Roosevelt's being president the first time, and he don't know when his luck will change, or when the dream will go off and find him wide awake to the stern realities of life. Personally, we don't think he will come out of the streak of luck till Brother Charles gets rid of a whole lot more of the hard dollars he has saved up for such emergencies.

A JURY'S VERDICT.

The verdict of a petit jury is one of the most uncertain of things. They are often so contrary to the law and the evidence in the case, that their decisions create a feeling of contempt.

The jury at LaPorte, Ind., this week, that heard the evidence in the Quinn trial, where Ray Lamphere was being tried for murder, brought in a verdict of arson, instead of murder.

If Lamphere fires the house where several people were burned to death, then he should have been found guilty of being the cause of those people's death. There is no other sane verdict that could have been found, yet that jury couldn't see it that way.

Another incident nearer home proves that juries anywhere may bring in absurd verdicts, and a verdict, too, acquitting a defendant after he had acknowledged his guilt in court, which under the law, he was guilty, and even after the judge had given the affirmative charge.

No wonder the question is often asked, "Is our system of trial by jury a failure?"

THE LAW OF AVERAGE.

We feel like that we could look happy and feel healthy, if we had all of this world's goods we owed to pay taxes on. It is a mere oversight to most of us though, when we fail to take into consideration that any man of money, or without it, is destined to travel a gravelly road, a road that hurts his feet just as badly as it hurts the poor fellow who has not where to lay his head. Our pleasures are averaged up to a certain extent. Certainly there are those emancipated to get more out of life than others, but even those, get all out of life that they can stand.

The man plowing the bull down on the hillside near the branch taking his two hour's nap at noon while the other end of the cultivator munches nubbins, gets as much out of life as his cousin the city dweller who is whirled back and forth to his office in a benzine buggy or tours the country in a palace car. For the latter it takes a lot of dog piled on to make life what he thinks it ought to be, and to the former, it don't take much of a time to make a mighty good time for him. He looks at the world and its pleasures through different eyes, but what he sees looks good, as a whole. This is some kind of a law of average that we think but little of, but it works the world over.

The king in his palace gets weary of the life he has got to lead. He ought to get mighty lonesome, not having any decent sort of people to associate with, according to his staining and precepts. No doubt nearly any king would like to forget it at all times and get out in the world and have some real fun like the rest of us. Reining must be awful trying on the nerves; the crown must set mighty heavy and give the kings the headache at times.

The rich, with money to hire servants in whose presence they don't feel at ease a little bit, cannot get more enjoyment out of a meal that cost ten dollars and is served them by a platoon of waiters, than we get out of hot biscuits, yellow butter and Houston county cane syrup. They don't sleep as well by retiring at twelve o'clock and after and rising just before noon the next day, as we do by going in early and coming out with the sun.

We have never seen the millionaires yet that we'd swap places with for all that we ever can find a lot of junk, in the way of habits, conscience liver, or something that you couldn't get off on us with a writ or matuater from Chancery Court, as made and provided in the statutes.

BANKS AND JAILS.

As big as this world is, as long as people have been occupying all the good places on this earth, as many people as we have on the outside of jails, it doesn't look like you could find a man that didn't have sense enough to stay out of jail. But we have some that never get a perspective till they get inside and see what did the sheriff serves his guests.

A likely young man, a man able to make a good, honest living in this world, is now languishing in the dungeon for not knowing how to stay out of jail.

He had read of how easy it was to pass a forged check and draw all the money one needed on it. He was not well read, though, for he didn't read on where it tells what goes with those bright forgery.

He walked into a business house and asked for a blank check and leaned over on a slow case, and with a lead pencil wrote down the amount of ready cash he needed, signed the firm's name to it. During this time he acted as if he thought the sheriff would nab him before he got out of the house. The clerks in the house never thought anything was wrong with the fellow. He crossed over to the bank and flipped that piece of damnation down on the marble slab as if he expected the cashier to shell out the amount of cash the check called for, no matter whose signature was at the bottom, or whether he had imitated the signature or not.

The man at the front window of all banks is a man put there for that particular purpose. It is his business to see that no money is passed over that shirk unless the signature is properly attached and unless that signature has money sufficient on deposit to take care of the check.

Almost any man can deposit money in a bank. The bank is not so particular when it is going in but they are particular when the money is to be paid out. And yet, we have never heard of a bank cashier being too particular about paying out money. A man wouldn't care to deposit his spare dollars in a bank that was not mighty particular about paying it out.

Still, this young fellow had been living right in this world where he could see banks and jails, every day and didn't know how to conduct himself properly. By a wrong move in the bank, he got in jail, but the wrong move in jail went put him in the bank.

If he didn't know, he could have asked any ten-year old boy, or eleven-year-old girl, and been told how quick he would get in jail by monkeying with the other fellows money entrusted to the keeping of a bank.

A man in Albany, N.Y., is languishing in jail pending a lunacy hearing. This action was brought about mainly because the fellow developed the poetic nature after being jailed for killing his wife. This should be a lesson to those contemplating wife-murder.

YOU are not a shoemaker, so there's no need of going into an analysis of the construction of the "Queen Quality" Shoe. But the fact remains that it satisfies over two million wearers. They know they like it; that it gives style to the foot; that it gives comfort the first day worn. And that is enough. It holds its shape longer than other ready made shoes because it fits. Yet the enormous business done on "Queen Quality" Shoes keeps the prices moderate.

RETURNS OF TAXABLE PROPERTY

There would be no deficit in the state treasury, present or prospective, if our officers charged with the valuation of taxable property had worked as faithfully in years of depression following a panic as did those in Georgia, Florida and adjoining states. Presumably values in the one state should correspond with those in the other and yet they do not. While the farmers in Alabama are marking down the value of land, improved and unimproved, the farmers of Georgia are marking them up. The value of 31,204,449 acres of improved lands in Georgia was put this year in the returns at $166,414,311, as against $164,644,712 in 1907. The returns of wild lands in Georgia cover fewer acres but the aggregate value was increased.

In Alabama the agricultural counties are inclined to send in decreased values, and this is leading to a deficit despite the gains in the cities and industrial districts. And yet farm lands are yearly increasing in value in Alabama as well as Georgia. They are firmly held. All timbered lands are rapidly rising in value. To return farm lands for taxation purposes at decreased prices is to fly in the face of unknown conditions and real values.

MONUMENTS

P. I. Bannell of the Clark Monumental Works of America has been setting some hard some jobs. This firm recently erected a nice spire over the grave of the wife of Dr. H. M. Young. Mr. Bannell will erect monuments for Mr. C. D. Baker, Miss Kirkland Dawsey and others here. This firm has on hand the Duke Gordon monument of Abbeville, and other large pieces in Georgia, Alabama and Florida. Parties wishing to learn more of this kind please phone the Martin Hotel and our Mr. Bannell will call. (Clark's Monumental Works 121)

DAILY, for one year $5.00
Published every Saturday.

A woman in Northampton, Mass. sold the only husband she had the other day to another woman for fifty dollars.

Some cities are preparing to fight the smoke evil, while New York should make some kind of fight on the fog.

The far famed Dr. Abbe of New York, is being bombarded or harassed by a woman letter writer who threatens to tell something on him.

Emperor Bill of Germany is reported to be spending sleepless nights over the political situation. Suppose you might call it a political affair, for that's what it would be over here, still he and his people hardly regard it as being that. Anyway he has the thing tangled up so till his sleep is bad, and he yearns for a dope that will give him refreshing sleep. We have referred in these columns before how uneasy the head was that wore a crown, and we fear that Bill is not eating regular, and taking regular exercise. If he will get up every morning and walk out over a farm of several hundred acres, and get the negroes strung out at work, and then take a turn back by some neighbor's farm, arriving home for breakfast about eight o'clock, he will find that he is hungry, and if he will stir around some more during the day leaving that heavy, cumbersome piece of headgear, called a crown off for awhile, he will find that insomnia will leave him as dead as a dead dog.

THIS IS THE PLAN.

Contestants for the Piano and Watch have not accepted money on daily subscriptions for a period longer than January the first. So it has not given them much latitude for work. They have done about all they can in that line, up till now, but they are given the privilege of soliciting daily subscription for the entire year of 1909.

Votes will be allowed on such subscriptions as follows:

For each cash subscription for one year, at $5.00, 700 votes will be given. If the subscription is for three months, or six months, or for any period less than a year, the votes will be allowed at the rate of one vote to the cent, or 100 to the dollar.

Apprehensive ones, who may doubt our ability to deliver the paper for a year, can be assured at the bank that their money will be refunded if we fail. We want the cash now, as much as possible, and therefore make some inducement to the contestants to get subscriptions for the full year, while they are getting them.

The price is $5.00 for the year. Do the right thing by relieving yourself of that sum now while times are good.

SCARED TO DEATH.

A hack driver in New York the other day was driving his team along peacefully, when he fell off the load of rocks and one of them tumbled out on his foot and mangled his toe right severely. He got up and was brushing the dust off, and putting the rock back on the drag, but the nearby policeman saw that he was limping some, and insisted that he be allowed to accompany him to a hospital. The drayman told him he hardly had time, but the point was pressed, so he went along. When he got there, the policeman told the physicians and surgeons in charge that the man had fallen from his drag and a rock had smashed his foot. They looked at him and had the operating table rolled out. Extra doctors came in and began to roll up the sleeves and sterilize their hands and instruments. The nurses came in with their nursing uniforms, and the drayman with a patient, he didn't know what was in store for him, but he suspected something. He was too weak to protest, and they laid him carefully on an operating table, merely intending to wash the sand and dust off and put a little iodine dressing on his foot, and tell him to be careful for a day or two, but they never got that far. The man died. He saw what looked to him like serious trouble, and was scared to death. There are many thickly populated grave yards all over the land scattered here and there with people who have been scared to death. Some one says "show me the things a man laughs at and I'll tell you the kind of a man he is." They could have gone one step further, and added "show me the things a man gets and I'll tell you the kind of a man he is." It appeals to the man most.

SPECIAL OFFER.
To the uninitiated, or that few who may not be subscribers to this daily, we wish to promise them the paper from now on till the last day of December 1909 for five dollars, paid at one set time.
WELL LIGHTED.
The 750 incandescent lights strung in the business streets, will make things look like day during the carnival.

A CHANGE IN BUSINESS

I want to sell a nice store and residence just north of A. C. L. depot. Will be sold at a bargain or exchanged for farm land.

The store is located where the first chance is had at country produce. It is a good stand. My reason for wanting to sell is to make some change in my business. If you want some good property increasing in value all the time, I can trade you some that will be a good investment.

My store and stock of goods will be sold together, or separate. See me if you want to trade.
